THE SUNDAY LAW.

Three Thousand Violators in Louisville, Including the Newspapers.

A conference was held in Louisville by Police Judge Thompson and the Prosecuting Attorney, to decide upon the proper mode of proceeding against the 3,000 persons who violated the Sunday closing law.

They decided against test cases, saying that the law was plain, and all should be proceeded against.

About 100 cases will be tried each day, beginning tomorrow afternoon.

Judge Thompson says that restaurant keepers, milkmen, undertakers and druggists who sell medicine only will be exempted.

As there is a penalty of from $10 to $50 every Sunday against a newspaper publisher for each of his employees who work on the Sabbath day, it will have an interesting effect on the newspapers.

At the conference it was decided to issue warrants against each of the newspapers in the city that print on Sunday.

TONY DECLARED ELECTED.

GOVERNOR BROWN WILL NOW BE HEARD UPON TO APPOINT THE JUDGE'S SUCCESSOR.

A special from Frankfort says that, in spite of the fact that Judge Sterling B. Toney had virtually acknowledged that he was never elected by withdrawing from the contest and renouncing all title by reason of his alleged 35 majority votes on the face of the returns, and in spite of the further fact that the chief Democratic official of the state, Governor John Young Brown and Auditor Luke C. Norman, have taken impregnable position in favor of the seating of Judge Boyle the Republican contestant, the State Court Board voted to affirm the election of Toney, the effect of which will be to create a vacancy on the Bench.

The vote on the question stood just as it did last Tuesday, Secretary of State Headley, Attorney General Headrick and Treasurer Hild voting for Toney, and Governor Brown and Auditor Norman taking high ground in favor of Boyle.

It is a legal question now as to whether Judge Toney, in order to carry out his announced purpose of refusing to accept because of the minority vote against him, will have to resign, or whether the vacancy will operate by reason of his failure to qualify, but it is not very material as it is presumed he will resign and remove all room for quibbling.

Governor Brown will be called upon to supply the vacancy by appointing for the short term, which will end next November.

It is asserted by friends of Judge Boyle that he would not accept an appointment, and it is not known whether Governor Brown, though he voted to seat Boyle, will consider his name in connection with the appointment.

There will be a general demand, however, on the part of his party, and many of his friends in other parties, to make the race next fall again.

Mr. George Traxel desires to inform the public that he will open a first-class plumbing shop about February 20th.

Glenn Brown has declined to interfere. George Mace will hang at Frankfort March 1st for the murder of Charles Thomas.

At Huntington a marriage license was issued to Henry Watkins, aged 31, and Mrs. Elizabeth Watkins, aged 24, who is his divorced wife. The parties have been living together for some time, and the license was made up, and will leave for Boyd county, Ky., to resume the old home life again.

THOS. J. CROWNE, Postmaster.

South America has the greatest unbroken extent of level surface of any country in the world. The Llanos of the Orinoco are so flat that the motion of the rivers can scarcely be detected over an area of 300,000 square miles.

Frankfort has heard that Colonel Boyle, like Judge Toney, will decline a seat upon the Appellate Bench unless away by the unanimous vote of the Contest Board. Such action on Colonel Boyle's part would naturally add fresh and interesting complications to the situation.

On March 5th the C. and O. will sell round trip tickets to the following territory at one fare, including 10 cents:

Arkansas, Idaho, Indian Territory, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas, Utah and Wyoming. Limit twenty days.

Missouri and Kentucky mules are exported to every part of the civilized world, and distinguish themselves by the brand of the C. and O. to Russia, South Africa, South American or Egyptian with the same ease and levity that they display in similar exercises at home.

Buyers are similar to other people—they like to be asked, and when they see an advertisement in THE LEADER they naturally regard it as an invitation to call. No one likes to go where he is not invited or wanted.

The Fox-Cupped Hots.

Why not go to the Casino on the Shriners' excursion February 22d? The fox-capped Shriners will be there and you will have a good time. Why not?

Ask the C. and O. Agent for rates.

There remain on the Revolutionary War pension roll just nine names of persons who are now drawing pensions. They are all widows of soldiers of the early struggle. One of them, the only one in New York state, resides in the little village of Manchester, Ontario county. With the intention of securing the honor of an interview with this aged and heroic character the writer drove over the snow-covered plank road to her home the other day.

At a short distance from the renowned Mormon Hill, whence Jose Smith is alleged to have taken the "fake" title which forms the basis of the polygamous Government of Utah, is situated a little wood, colored farm house, where dwells Mrs. Asenath Turner, one of the only nine living pensioners of the great struggle which emancipated the New World from dependence upon the Old.

Unshowered into a plainly furnished but representative of the small dwelling the representative saw on a couch the reclining form of what appeared to be a child, but on closer inspection it was found to be a slightly built and wasted form of a very old lady. The a. w. was calm and reposeful, but from beneath the snowwhite cap a pair of sharp eyes peered at the visitor.

When told of the nature of the visit Mrs. Turner said: "Oh, so many people come to see me, and so many letters are sent; I would like to answer all of them, and tell I remember about my early life, but I am getting too feeble." She will be 95 years old in March. A daughter stated that despite her mother's great age and the fact that her eyesight was failing, she occasionally answered some of the many letters that daily come to her.

Mrs. Turner told some of the main facts of her early life. She was a maiden of 18 years when she married Samuel Dunham, a seventy-year-old Revolutionary pensioner. She was born in Newfield, Conn., twenty-five years after the close of the Revolutionary War. Mr. Dunham was then a prosperous merchant of the same hamlet. When eighteen years after he was attracted by the wilderness, she was a little old maid, a proud states, a well preserved and possessing man. After due time, as she naively remarked, he wanted this girl for his wife. Thirty years of married life did the couple enjoy, his death occurring just a short time after he became a centenarian.

But two children were the result of this union. One, Almeron Dunham, aged 66 years, now resides at the village of Manchester, some two miles South of the home of his mother. He is a justice of the Peace in that village. Another, Mrs. Ellen Leigh, resides at West Creek, N. J. She is aged 64 years. Four years after the marriage of Samuel Dunham to his wife, he became a widower, from Connecticut—in those days Western New York was not far from a wilderness—and they settled down near Manchester. For forty-four years the old lady has dwelt in her present residence, and she has lived within a mile of it for sixty-five years. Some three or four years after the death of Dunham (for the old lady's memory of dates is not now so good as it was a few years ago) she married a second time. This was her mother's home. He is a justice of the Peace in that village. Another, Mrs. Ellen Leigh, resides at West Creek, N. J. She is aged 64 years. AMERICA FOR AMERICANS

MCKINLEY AND WILSON ABOARD.

In 1890 William McKinley was burned in effigy in the English manufacturing city of Sheffield; but in 1894 William McKinley was elected President of the United States because he is the author of a Free-Trade Tariff Bill. These are significant facts.

SENATOR SHERMAN made in the Senate Monday a speech which commanded the attention of that body during its delivery, and which was one of the best that the senior Ohio Senator has ever made. It followed Senator GRAY's defense of the Administration for the bond issue, in which the Delaware Senator said the gold could not have lasted another day. Coming from a man of Senator SHERMAN's conservatism it was exceedingly important. His purpose was to prove that the Government could pay its obligations in the money which it secured at the time the obligations were incurred, and was an appeal against repudiation. He took exception in his speech to argue that the President had nothing whatever to do with the finances, but that power devolved exclusively on the Secretary of the Treasury, and it was a plea for that officer's independence. Perhaps the most striking part of his speech was his conservative criticism of the late bond issue and the use of the word "improvident" as regards the Administration's conduct with the foreign syndicate and the prophecy that the bonds sold at 104 would in sixty days be bringing 120 in the London market. Coming from Senator SHERMAN, that stricture was very severe and attracted the greatest comment.

In the course of his remarks Senator SHERMAN said:

"The real question is, shall this Government pay its obligations in gold or in some other coin? I wish to point out that in every act, every loan, every sale of bonds since 1869 this Government has demanded gold. And now we are to refuse to pay these obligations in the same coin we received for them? If this question is fairly presented and understood by the people, no honest man will say we should pay in any coin other than that we received."

Mr. SHERMAN read the law of 1869, solemnly pledging the faith of the Government to pay in coin. What coin, he asked, was existing at that time, and what coin was meant by the law-makers? It was gold, which at that time was the only standard coin. Silver was not then a standard coin.

Mr. SHERMAN took up the four-and-a-half per cent. bonds issued by Secretary of the Treasury MORRILL and read the language that the proceeds from them were to be "paid in gold." The same provision was made as to the bonds issued by him (SHERMAN) while Secretary of the Treasury. To say that such bonds, for which gold was received, should not be paid in gold, was not honest. "And let me say to Senators these bonds will never be worth less than their value when they were sold. We received gold for them; we will pay gold for them. The people of the United States will resent any disloyalty on our obligations in money of less value than that we received."

Mr. James T. Cooper and Miss Jennie Taylor will wed at Springfield today.

"Side Tracked" Continues.

"Side Tracked," a very bright and original comic-drama, will be seen here on Wednesday evening and from the way they pleased our people when they played here last October we think they will draw a big house.

Mr. Jule Walters, a clever comedian of much merit and strength, will be seen as Kexes Horatio Bots, the tramp. The mechanical devices this season are an entire novelty. The management has the entire right of the famous Columbian drama, introduced by Louise Lewellyn, a most graceful and charming dancer. "Side Tracked" should be well attended.

"I suppose," he observed, "you would like

WAR ROMANCE.

Philadelphia Record.

A romance has blossomed from the dust of the Administration record, and it does not deserve to waste its sweetness on the desert air. Secretary of the Navy Herbert is the hero, or rather the real hero lies under the concealed story of Gettysburg in that great slight breeze of heroes and the gray

Secretary Herbert wears the gray in those old days of strife, and as he is said to be seven years the worthy wearer of the blue who so soon fell asleep on that other field of honor and duty, rescued him from the bayonet of a fierce Southern soldier, who would have trampled the luckless Southern officer, only since his elevation to the head of the Navy was Colonel Herbert enabled to trace his unknown benefactor to the tragic end at Gettysburg; but he found still surviving in one of the Navy's best pensioning trade of ship careers; and truly, said the Record, no one will find fault with this single violation by Secretary Herbert of the Civil Service order established by himself.

CALLED A HALT.

Jones' Free Coinage Bill Taken Up in the Senate.

But the Republicans Refuse to Let a Vote Be Taken.

Senator Jones Greatly Antagonized—He Did Not Desire to Make His Fight for Free Silver the Means of Defeating the Appropriation Bills.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The Republicans in the senate refused to allow a vote on the free silver bill. The bill was taken up in the morning hour Tuesday by a vote of 30 to 15 in increase of 6 over the majority by which it was made the order of unfinished business Monday night. Under Monday night's vote the bill would have had the right of way after 2 o'clock, but the free silver men determined to emphasize their content of the senate and so Senator Jones made his motion to take up the bill half an hour in advance of the time set for its appearance.

As soon as the bill had been taken up Senator Jones asked for immediate action on the passage. He then stated the friends of the bill did not care for debate, and he hoped, that as no argument of whatever length, would change a vote in the senate, the opponents of the measure would let it come to an immediate determination without wasting further time.

Senator Jones had expected from the attitude of the republican leaders, Monday, that there would be no objection to this proposition, except possibly from democrats like Vilas and Gray, who might to exploit their views, and who were understood to have received a tip from the white house to oppose the bill.

He was somewhat astonished, therefore, when Senator Aldrich, in behalf of the republicans, promptly objected to such precipitate action. There was considerable fencing between Senator Jones on one side and Senator Aldrich on the other, during which Senator Jones made it appear that the action of the republicans was in the nature of filibustering to prevent any vote on the bill. When he was asked whether he was going to impede the passage of the appropriation bills by insisting that a final vote should be taken, he evaded the question, although saying that he did dislike very much to do so.

Senator Jones later in the afternoon made to a correspondent that he did not see reason why a vote should not be taken, and that the action Tuesday of the republicans was, with him, wholly incomprehensible. He admitted he would not make his fight for free silver the means of defeating an appropriation bill, and this statement he indicated his eventual surrender.

Senator Aldrich was then sought and asked why the republicans had suddenly changed front. He replied that the conditions had changed. Last week, before the bill was introduced on the gold bond bill, it was deemed important that a record should be made by the senate in order that the country might be informed of the impossibility of securing currency legislation while a majority of the senate was in favor of free silver. Monday, by a majority of 15 to 10, the senate had voted to take up the free silver bill.

This, Mr. Aldrich said, was all the evidence that was needed as to the complexion of the senate. It was a test vote, and nothing was necessary. The passage of a free silver bill could not make the truth any clearer.

The Philadelphia Election.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—Philadelphia Tuesday maintained its reputation for stalwart republicanism, and elected a republican of 41 years of age mayor by a majority of from 4,000 to 5,000. The election Tuesday was for mayor, receiver of taxes, councilmen, police magistrates and school directors. The republicans made a clean sweep and elected their candidates for mayor and receiver of taxes by a greater majority than ever elected similar officers upon local issues. The candidates of the republican party for mayor and receiver of taxes were Mayor Charles F. Warwick and Wm. J. Roney respectively. Ex-Gov. Robert E. Pattison and Col. Silverstein Bonafant, Jr., were the candidates of the democratic party for the same office.

An elaborate paper on "The Influence of Women in the Ornamentation of Civilization to Bear Upon the Daily Life," was the first thing on the programme. It was read by Minnie D. Louis, of New York.

She said that Edward Bellamy was the prophet of the new religion. Mary P. Lovell, of Pennsylvania, delegate of the National Council of Women, then branched off into a discussion of her pet theory of vivisection, and Mrs. Helen S. Johnson, of Pennsylvania, who was exhibited very largely in the dress of women.

She explained this by the statement that the women of the world, even by women were obtained from birds and animals at the cost of terrible suffering to these dumb creatures.

THE MEXICANS

Render Highest Military Honors to the Late Minister Gray.

President Diaz and Cabinet Walk in the Funeral Procession

To the Train a Mile Distant, Through Mexico and on the Departure of the Funeral Train to the City of Mexico.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The following official telegram relating to the death of Minister Gray have been made public by the state department: Mexico City, Feb. 17, 1895.

Gray, Washington: The funeral of Minister Gray, attended by hundreds of the American colony and leading Mexican citizens, under very moving conditions, was also solemnized with military honors rendered by the Mexican government. Mr. Mariscal assured Constantino and myself that Minister Gray had received the highest military honors ever accorded to a foreigner in Mexico.

A guard of honor sentinelled the remains last night, and troops escorted them to the depot. President Diaz, accompanied by his cabinet, the personnel of this legation, the United States consul general and the entire diplomatic corps, in full uniform, walked to the railway station, a mile distant, through heat and dust, and on its departure the funeral train was dismissed with a salute of artillery. Minister Mariscal and other cabinet officers made especially touching reference to the loss to Mexico of such a staunch friend. He conveyed to the presidential party the appreciative thanks of the bereaved family, and the assurance that the grateful and spontaneous courtesy of the Mexican government would endeavor it to the American people and government. Dispatch, with newspaper clippings, will be mailed Wednesday.

Butler, Department of State, Washington, Feb. 18, 1895.

Butler, Charge d'Affaires, Mexico: The president, to whom I communicated your telegram reporting the exceptional honors paid to Minister Gray's memory, directs that you express, in his name and that of the people of this country, great appreciation of these signs and touching tributes of esteem on the part of the president and government of Mexico.

FRESHMAN, Department of State, Washington, Feb. 18, 1895.

Mrs. Gray, Care Butler, Charge Mexico: The president desires to express to you his heartfelt sympathy in your deep affliction, and I add my own sincere condolences. Your husband's sudden death, terminating a diplomatic career of great usefulness, is a great loss.

GRESHAM, SANTA FE POST, Washington, Feb. 20.—The house committee on military affairs Tuesday ordered a favorable report on a bill authorizing the establishment of a military post at Santa Fe, N. M.

The post is to be established if the secretary of war deems it advisable, but not until several posts in the territory have been abandoned and their forces concentrated at the proposed post.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—When the Hovette trial was resumed Tuesday morning, Justice McComas announced instructions which he would permit to go to the jury. The instructions are regarded by members of the bar as indicating a possibility of acquittal on the ground that the defendant is guilty from justice, and therefore the statute of limitations operates as a bar against the prosecution.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The belief is growing that the president has decided to refrain from filling the vacancy caused in the list of brigadier-generals by the promotion of Gen. Schofield to be lieutenant-general and Gen. Ruger to be major-general. It is said that the president was only by an oversight that congress ordered the place and increased the number of general officers, and the president intends to rectify it by withholding an appointment.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Representative Blair (N. H.) Tuesday introduced a resolution in the house proposing an amendment to the constitution of the United States, prohibiting the liquor traffic in the United States. The resolution is introduced by "request of the general officers of the World's and the National W. C. T. U." and is a general expression of the polyglot petition just presented to the president.

Secretary and Mrs. Carlisle left Washington for New York Tuesday morning, with Mrs. W. K. Carlisle, of Chicago, who will sail for Europe, Wednesday, for the benefit of her health.

Jack Spradlin cut Bob Dougherty's throat at Rockport, Ind. On ground.

WARDEN PATTON,

Of the Jeffersonville Penitentiary, Gives One Hundred Lashes to a Prisoner, JAMES McFARLANE, Ind. Feb. 20.—Rebt. Patterson, the convict who created a disturbance at the Prison House a few days since, was Tuesday punished by the application of one hundred lashes on the bare back. The punishment was inflicted by the deputy warden with a three-strung lash in the presence of the prison physician and chaplain. Although the nervous condition in the prison, Patterson broke down and begged for mercy.

It is claimed a convict named Kauter a few days since committed the same offense, but was not punished, and that the main reason Patterson was punished was because he handed to a member of the legislative investigating committee a number of charges against the warden. The warden is said to have ordered him to retract the statements, which he is said to have refused to do.

Pettibone Manufacturing Co. Fall. CINCINNATI, Feb. 20.—Tuesday afternoon papers of assignment were filed in the bankruptcy court by the Pettibone Manufacturing Co. The assets were given as $50,000, liabilities unknown.

THE REBELS

Are Being Tried In Groups of a Dozen or More.

No Decision Yet as to the Punishment of the Ringleaders.

An Effort to Give All a Fair and Impartial Trial—President Hottel Does Not Satisfy the Rebels.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Mail advices received at the Hawaiian embassy are that the trial of the principals engaged in the recent uprising was Tuesday concluded, and the natives at last accounts were being tried in groups of a dozen or more.

As fast as evidence was adduced in the examination before the court-martial, batches of prisoners were arraigned, and when they requested it, counsel was assigned to them.

An effort was being made to give all a fair and impartial trial. In one instance where a member of the court was objected to by one of the accused because two "had some hot words several years ago," the officer promptly stepped down from the bench.

The trials of the ex-queen and the ringleaders of the rebellion have been reached, but no decision has been reached.

Sentiment is divided in the islands as to the advisability of keeping the abdicated queen at Honolulu or sending her out of the country.

Some persons hold that Mrs. Dominica is kept under surveillance. They will be less optimistic given her adventures to foment discord, whereas if she is permitted to run at large in the United States or elsewhere, there would be continual trouble.

On the other hand, however, it is asserted that the recent failure of filibustering operations against the republic will have a wholesome effect in deterring others from doing likewise, and the government can afford to be lenient.

Robert Wilcox, who applied to be the leader of the royalist forces, is reported as having turned in the most abject manner and begged for his life, greatly to the disgust of his followers, who had expected their leader to show more backbone.

From the tenor of the letters received at the legation it is not believed President Hottel will question any harsh measures, such as capital punishment, nor will torture be tolerated.

A Dastardly Deed. BROOKLYN, Feb. 20.—As the trolley car that leaves the Grand street ferry at 11:20 for Masepeh was speeding along near Malvina Monday night it struck a barbed wire that had been stretched across the road and severely fastened at either end.
